

PAIGE LAYNE, FCAS, MAAA

Consulting Actuary | Austin, Texas

Paige serves as project manager for multiple insurance programs, including self-insured entities, captive insurance companies and traditional insurance companies. She performs both interim and year-end reserve analyses and develops rate indications and loss cost multiplier projections.

She has experience in assignments involving enterprise risk captives, simulation methods and captive feasibility studies. Her work has included companies writing multiple lines of business, including workers' compensation, general liability, auto liability and auto physical damage. She also assists with the preparation of statements of actuarial opinion and actuarial opinion summaries.

Outside of her client responsibilities, Paige coordinates and cohosts Beyond the Classroom, a webinar series designed to increase awareness of the actuarial profession among current and prospective actuarial science students nationwide. She also helps coordinate Pinnacle University, which pairs college students with Pinnacle employees to research, develop and present relevant topics, and manages Pinnacle's internal Zenith webinar series, which focuses on employee development.

★ Qualified to sign statements of actuarial opinion per the American Academy of Actuaries (AAA)
